Art Tui Bussenschutt's drawings are staggeringly original. he has a quirky, humorous, insightful and intuitive response to the world around him. That Art comes from a creative family should come as no surprise, but that at the ripe old age of 12 he has a singular vision and an instinct for colour, line and detail to rival some of the great professional illustrators and artists of our age should blow you away.

Art likes drawing to music, he always starts with the eyes and without a fixed plan or idea meanders his way to the final character on the page. He's got firm ideas about colour- what looks great next to each other and when a composition needs breathing room and plenty of negative space. His titles and captions emerge as he draws- they pop into his head as rueful observations or witty jokes- and Art loves that they make people laugh.

His style could be naïve- but Art knows his art- he cites influences of Picasso and Basquiat. He'd love to see his works on t-shirts, tote bags or as a mural. His wisdom, humour and sparkly joy jump off the page of these beautifully realised and presented drawings. I can't believe SocialLife is so lucky as to host his first show. It certainly won't be his last. Get in quick!
